

Trump says he believes nuke deal with N Korea possible

UNITED NATIONS, SEPT 27 /- President Donald Trump on Wednesday defended his work to settle a nuclear deal with North Korean leader Kim Jong Un, saying he has given up nothing but his time during a June summit that stands on the cusp of denuclearizing the North. In a wide-ranging news conference on the sidelines of the U.N. General Assembly, Trump told reporters that despite tough U.S. sanctions against the North standing in place, he believes that Kim wants to get a deal done because of their close ties. "We have a very good relationship. He likes me. Like him, we get along," Trump said. "He wants to make a deal and I'd like to make a deal." He wouldn't put a timeframe, however, on when the two leaders might settle the deal, but he is not playing the time game, he said.

It has lasted for decades, flummoxed a long line of US and South Korean presidents and had many fearing war last year during a series of increasingly powerful North Korean weapons tests that experts believe put the country close to a long-time goal of wishfully targeting any spot on the US mainland, Trump and his top diplomat, Mike Pompeo, are trying to get past the deadlock that has followed the Singapore summit. Pompeo is planning to visit Pyongyang next month to prepare for a second Kim-Trump summit. Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe Wednesday also said separately that he wants to meet with Kim though no details had been decided on yet. Trump's optimistic comments come amid widespread skepticism that Kim will actually relinquish an arsenal that Pyongyang likely sees as the only way to guarantee the Kim dynasty's continued authoritarian rule.

Although Trump maintained that he'd given up nothing in his meeting with Kim, he has faced criticism for his decision during the Singapore summit to scrap an US military drills with ally South Korea. Critics called it a concession for the North, which has about 12,000 nuclear warheads in preparation and proof of US hostility. Trump said Wednesday that he'd long wanted to stop the drills, which had always been portrayed by the allies as defensive in nature, because of their high cost and said he could restart them if needed. "For the taxpayer, we're saving a fortune," Trump said.

Trump also made the stunning claim that former President Barack Obama told Trump that Obama was "very close" to going to war with the North. "If it wasn't for me," Trump said, "you'd be in a war." The State Department said Pompeo was invited by Kim to Pyongyang, the North's capital, "to make further progress on the implementation of agreements made during the Singapore summit and to set up another leaders' meeting. Pompeo met earlier Wednesday with North Korean Foreign Minister Ri Yong Ho at the UN General Assembly meeting in New York. Pompeo said on Twitter that his meeting with Ri was "very positive." There were no details immediately available about what the diplomats discussed. "Much work remains, but we will continue to move forward," Pompeo said.

Also at the UN session, South Korean President Moon Jae-in said high-level diplomacy has "removed the shadow of war" that hung over the Korean Peninsula last year as Kim and Trump threatened each other with destruction during the run of North Korea weapons tests. "Over the past year, something miraculous has taken place on the Korean Peninsula," Moon said in an address to world leaders. "We have crossed the barriers of division and are tearing down the walls in our heart." Moon met with Kim in Pyongyang last week and has been the leading force behind the summit. He and others hope another Trump-Kim summit will lead to disarmament progress. Diplomacy has stalled following Kim's vague promise at the Singapore summit to work toward "complete denuclearization" of the Korean Peninsula in exchange for US security guarantees. At the heart of the impasse: a North Korean demand for a declaration to formally end the Korean War before it takes any major disarmament steps. That war ended in 1953 with a ceasefire, not a peace treaty. Washington wants the North to first provide a list of the contents of its nuclear arsenal before agreeing to that war declaration, which could remove a big piece of diplomatic leverage over the North. Also Wednesday, Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov warned that dismantling an Iran nuclear accord would threaten global efforts to halt North Korea's nuclear program. Lavrov and others defended the 2015 Iran deal at a U.N. Security Council meeting chaired by Trump about non-proliferation. Trump pulled the U.S. out of the accord, arguing it wasn't tough enough on Iran, and is threatening new sanctions. Lavrov said dismantling the accord would "be counterproductive for the efforts under way now to denuclearize the Korean Peninsula." (Agencies)

China slams US B-52s flying over disputed seas as 'provocative'

BEIJING, SEPT 27 /- The Chinese defence ministry on Thursday denounced flyovers by US B-52 bombers over the South China Sea and East China Sea as "provocative" actions amid soaring tensions between the two global powers. The Pentagon said Wednesday the heavy bombers had taken part in a combined operation with Japan over the East China Sea and had flown through international airspace over the South China Sea a day before. "Regarding the provocative actions of US military aircraft in the South China Sea, we are always resolutely opposed to them, and will continue to take necessary measures in order to strongly handle (this issue)," Chinese defence ministry spokesman Ren Guoguang told a monthly news briefing. China has claimed large swaths of the strategic waterway and built up a series of islands and maritime features, turning them into military facilities. Brunei, Malaysia, the Philippines, Taiwan and Vietnam have competing claims to the region, and an international maritime tribunal ruled in 2016 that China's claims have no legal basis. Pentagon spokesman Lieutenant Colonel Dave Eastburn said this week's flights were part of "regularly scheduled operations."

Pak raising Kashmir issue at OIC 'unwarranted' India

NEW YORK, SEPT 27 /- India has raised objections over Pakistan raising up the Kashmir issue at the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) meeting, saying it is completely "unwarranted" for the grouping as well as its member countries to discuss matters related to India's internal affairs in any multilateral set up. Pakistan raked up the Kashmir issue at the OIC's Contact Group meeting held Wednesday on the sidelines of the 73rd session of the UN General Assembly. "We always note with regret that the matter which is very internal to Indian affairs was again discussed at the OIC," Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Raveesh Kumar told reporters here. He was asked about Pakistan raising the issue at the OIC meeting. He said India rejects such references to a matter which is very internal to India. "We have said in the past that OIC has no locus standi to comment on India's internal affairs" and it is completely unwarranted for OIC as well as its member countries to discuss matters related to India's internal affairs in any multi-organism set up. When asked about Pakistan's Foreign Minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi also raising the Kashmir issue in his bilateral meetings on the sidelines of the OIC's General Assembly, Kumar said Islamabad has been doing this for a long time. "It is not the first time they are raising the issue in their bilateral meetings. You would note that what they come up with is their side of the story. What they share and what they say has no acceptance anywhere in the international community," he said. He said Pakistan has realised its "falsehood" and what it has been projecting had already been rejected by the international community. On the possibility of any exchange between External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj and Qureshi in the SAARC meeting, Kumar said, "we have made it very clear that it is not bilateral meeting between India and Pakistan," and added that it is "difficult to predict if there will be a handshake" between the two. Swaraj will be attending the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC), India, Brazil, South Africa (IBSA) and Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa (BRICS) meeting Thursday. On Wednesday, Swaraj held bilateral meetings with her counterparts from Germany, Bolivia, Armenia, Panama, Austria, Antigua and Barbuda, Chile, Iran and with Nepalese Prime Minister KP Sharma Oli. "A relationship like no other! EAM @SushmaSwaraj met the @PM_Nepal KP Sharma Oli. Positive and friendly conversation on taking our relationship to an even higher trajectory." Kumar tweeted. (PTI)

Vietnam bids final farewell to Prez before burial

HANOI, SEPT 27 /- Vietnam held an emotional memorial for president Tran Dai Quang in Hanoi Thursday before his body was carried through the city with weeping residents and police lining the streets to bid him a final farewell. Quang died on Friday at age 61 after a long illness that officials described only as a "rare virus". A long-serving communist stalwart and former national police chief, Quang was celebrated for his dedication to the country that he spent much of his career serving. "The leader with many contributions to the country bid farewell to us... a great loss for the family and the nation," Communist Party chief Nguyen Phu Trong said at a ceremony Thursday. Quang's family, dressed in black with white headbands, stood near his coffin draped in the national flag and beneath a portrait of the leader and a framed collection of his medals. "My father's wish was to spend his whole life contributing to the nation and revolutionary cause," Quang's son Tran Quan told the funeral home packed with uniformed police and officials wearing black armbands. Quang's red coffin - emblazoned with Vietnam's national logo in gold - later began a procession through Hanoi in a cannon carriage followed by trucks of family and soldiers with the country's top leaders walking behind for a few minutes. "The coffin was greeted by mothers, some in tears, as it snaked through Hanoi's rain-slicked streets with police officers saluting it. "It's an honour for me to be on duty today, for the funeral of the president but also police chief... it's a great loss that he is a great officer. Nguyen Van Duc told AFP. Quang headed the powerful Ministry of Public Security for five years before becoming president in 2016. His role as head-of-state was largely ceremonial and he spent much of his time greeting world leaders at high-level diplomatic events. Analysts say his death is not likely to shake up politics in the one-party communist state. His state funeral will end Thursday with his burial in his home province of Ninh Binh, south of Hanoi. day. On Wednesday, Swaraj held bilateral meetings with her counterparts from Germany, Bolivia, Armenia, Panama, Austria, Antigua and Barbuda, Chile, Iran and with Nepalese Prime Minister KP Sharma Oli.
