Maharashtra Assembly adjourned after ruckus over Nanar refinery issue

NAGPUR, JULY 11 /- / The proceedings of the Maharashtra Legislative Assembly were adjourned for the day today after MLAs of the Shiv Sena and the Congress created a ruckus on the Nanar refinery issue and tried to take away the Speaker's mace.

However, Sena MLAs took to the demand and stormed into the Well of the House. Pawar wondered how the Sena could disrupt the proceedings of the House despite it being a ruling party and at a time when a minister (Khad) is speaking on an important issue.

As MLAs of Sena, Congress and NCP refused to allow the speaker adjournment motions on the refinery issue before allowing Sena members to speak. Nitesh Rane (Congress) said he should be allowed to speak first since he is the local MLA and his party had submitted an adjournment notice. He represents Kankavli assembly constituency in Sindhudurg district in Konkan.

Bombay HC acquits man of 'unsound mind' in murder case

MUMBAI, JULY 11 /- / The Bombay High Court has acquitted a 41-year-old man in a murder case, observing that he was of an "unsound mind" and could not be held liable for his actions.

While quashing and setting aside the sessions court's order, the High Court said: "...the appellant was incapable of knowing the nature of the act by reason of unsoundness of his mind and thus, is entitled to benefit of section 84 (act of a person of unsound mind) of the Indian Penal Code". According to the prosecution, the man assaulted his building's watchman on November 8, 2007 with a knife and acquired him in September 2001, invoking provisions of IPC section 84.

Kerala HC rejects pre-arrest bail pleas of 3 priests accused of rape

KOCHI, JULY 11 /- / The Kerala High Court today rejected the anticipatory bail petitions of three priests of a church accused of raping a woman, ruling that the charges against them were serious and the relief, if granted at an early stage of investigation, will adversely affect its progress.

The priests—Abraham Varghese alias Sony, Job Mathew and Jais K George—had approached the court soon after the crime branch of Kerala Police slapped rape charges against four of the five Malankara Syrian Orthodox Church priests, who were accused of sexually exploiting the victim.

The woman's husband had last month accused five priests of using his wife's secret confession to "blackmail and sexually abuse" her. The name of the fifth clergyman was not included for want of substantial evidence.
