BJP should not get a single vote in UP: Mamata

KOLKATA, DEC 31 /- West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee today declined to comment on the internal squabbles of the Samajwadi Party, but said whoever wins the Assembly polls in Uttar Pradesh, BJP should not get a single vote. "It is SP's internal matter. I do not want to say anything on it," she told a press conference at the state secretariat when asked to comment on the developments in that party.

"But whoever wins, be it BSP or SP, BJP should not get a single vote. They (Modi government) are threatening Mayawati.

They are threatening those who have opposed their (demonetisation) decision. They are only spreading lies and canards. They believe in the theory of Goebbels," she added.

Banerjee had addressed a public meeting against demonetisation in Lucknow last month which had been attended by Uttar Pradesh ministers.

"They (BJP) are committing mistakes everyday. They had committed a mistake in Bihar when Lalu (Prasad) and Nitish (Kumar) won the election," she said.

Continuing with her attack on the saffron party, Banerjee said, "Within seven days of laying all theaids, they had conducted a raid (on the Tamil Nadu chief secretary). If Chandrababu Naidu raised his voice, they will conduct a raid on him as well." PTI

MULAYAM BACKPEDALS Revokes expulsion of Akhilesh, Ramgopal after CM musters huge supports of legislators

Conspiracy to break SP has failed, says Amar

LUCKNOW, DEC 31 /- After a massive show of strength by Akhilesh Yadav, who was expelled from SP by father Mulayam Singh Yadav, the party supremo today backed down revoking with immediate effect the expulsion orders of his son and brother Ramgopal.

After hectic confabulations involving Akhilesh's warring uncle Shivpal Yadav, Mulayam and the chief minister, Shivpal tweeted that on the SP supremo's directive, expulsion of Akhilesh and Ramgopal Yadav from SP was being revoked with immediate effect. "I am coming back to the party," chief Mulayam Singh along with CM Akhilesh Yadav. Netaji has given the order that the suspension orders of Akhilesh and Ram Gopal are terminated with immediate effect," Shivpal said.

"All of us together will fight common forces and we will once again form a SP government in UP with full majority. These are my orders. We will hold discussions within ourselves and decide, and prepare for the upcoming elections," he said.

"All matters have been solved and we will fight the upcoming polls together. We will all sit together with Netaji and I am sure all problems will be resolved," he said. On a day of fast-paced developments, the UP chief minister earlier in the day convened a meeting of SP legislators where over 200 of the 229 party MLAs turned up expressing their loyalty to the chief minister, a day after he was expelled from the party for indulging in "indiscipline", pushing the ruling party to the precipice of a vertical split. Some SP MLAs and senior party functionaries loyal to Akhilesh also attended the meeting at the chief minister's official residence at 5-Kalidas Marg. Senior SP leader and UP cabinet minister Azam Khan then arrived at the CM's residence and after a brief stay, they drove to Mulayam's bungalow at a stone's throw distance.

High drama was witnessed outside the chief minister's residence where young supporters of Akhilesh assembled in large numbers to vent their fury over his expulsion and that of his uncle Ramgopal Yadav. Akhilesh supporters tried to break the cordon outside the CM's residence and clashed with police.

Shivpal Yadav outside the party headquarters in the high-security VIP enclave which looked like a battle zone with heavy police deployment. As the embattled Samajwadi Party faced its worst ever crisis, RJD supremo Lalu Prasad sought to bring the warring groups together by speaking to Mulayam to broker peace.

Lalu telephoned Mulayam, who happens to be his relative too, to ensure that the feuding leaders buried the hatchet. The SP supremo had on Friday expelled his son Akhilesh and Ramgopal from SP for six years after they put up candidates against the official nominees and summoned a party meet on Sunday, pushing the ruling party to the precipice of a split just ahead of the Assembly elections likely to be announced soon.

Mulayam had said he took action against Akhilesh and Ramgopal to save the party which he had built through hard work. "We have to save the party. The party comes first. That is why we are expelling both Akhilesh and Ramgopal," he said. He explained that the decision was taken after Ramgopal, in his capacity as general secretary, called an emergency meeting of the party on January 1 and Akhilesh "supported" it. Samajwadi Party leader Amar Singh, who many including Akhilesh, blame for creating bad blood within Saifal's ruling Yadav clan, termed the crisis in the party as "unfortunate" and asked its members to support Mulayam in the family feud. "I appeal to the party members to stand with Netaji (Mulayam). Whatever is happening is very unfortunate," Singh, who recently made a comeback to the party after a long exile, said.

However, as the squabbling first family of the Samajwadi Party appeared to have made peace, Singh quickly changed the tune saying, "Mulayam Singhji has done the right thing. He has given a message through his decision that he will not let either the Samajwadi Party or his family break till he is alive. Those people who wanted the party and the family to break, their conspiracy has failed."

"Now we will get together and with each other's cooperation will ensure that the SP once again forms government with full majority in UP elections to fulfil Mulayam Singhji's dreams and expectations," he said.

Rahul asks PM to lift restrictions on cash withdrawals

NEW DELHI/KOLKATA, DEC 31 /- Congress vice president Rahul took to Twitter to highlight his demands ahead of Modi's second television address to the nation tonight after his surprise November 8 announcement to withdraw Rs 1,000 and old Rs 500 currency notes. The Congress vice president, a staunch critic of the Union government's decision to demonetise the notes, listed out his eight demands to Modi as the 50 days the prime minister had sought to normalise the situation expired yesterday and there still seem to have some issues with the availability of notes. He has dubbed the move the single most arbitrary decision in the history of the world affecting 1.5 billion people.

Apart from asking the Prime Minister to "lift restriction on withdrawal of money with immediate effect", the Congress leader demanded him to deposit Rs 25,000 in the account of one woman in each Below Poverty Line (BPL) family. He advocated immediately abolishing charges on digital transactions and called for Income and Sales taxes rebate of 50 per cent to small scale shopkeepers and businesses. Rahul also demanded the Prime Minister to compensate all bank account holders with special interest rate at 18 per cent annum for the "time restrictions are in place".

The Congress leader also urged doubling of number of guaranteed workdays and wage rate under Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) for a year and a special one-time bonus of 20 per cent over and above the Minimum Support Price (MSP) of all raw crops.

Questioning the restrictions imposed on cash withdrawal, chief minister Mamata Banerjee too today said the government cannot simply "snatch away" economic rights of the people. "Modi Babu, public are not beggars. Why are there still restriction on cash withdrawal?" Mamata raised question in a statement.
