COURT HALTS GOVT'S CATTLE SALE BAN

Madras HC stays restriction on buying and selling of animals for slaughter for 4 weeks

Centre examining issues raised by states: Minister

MADURAI, MAY 30 /-/ The Madras High Court today stayed for four weeks the Centre's notification banning sale and purchase of cattle for slaughter, and sought its response to PILs which contended that the rules should have been approved by Parliament first.

A Madurai bench comprising Justices M V Muralidharan and C V Karthikeyan issued the interim order on the two pleas which said that the rules should be quashed as they were against the Constitution, breached the principle of federalism and were contrary to the parent legislation — Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1960. Referring to the contention of the petitioners that the notification was related to food and hence ought to have been approved by Parliament, the judges asked the Centre to respond to the point also in its counter to be filed in four weeks. The order has come amid a raging row on the ban, with non-BJP parties and state governments of Kerala, West Bengal and Puducherry stridently opposing the Centre's recent notification.

Several places in Kerala and Tamil Nadu have been witnessing protests during the past few days against the ban on sale of cattle for slaughter. Protesters have alleged that it infringed upon the food habits of people. The PILs sought quashing of the provisions of Rule 22(b) (II) and Rule 22(c) of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (Regulations of Live stock Markets) Rules 2017 on the grounds that they were contrary to the parent act of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1960 and the country's Constitution. Petitioner Sreejagathay and Asik Ilahi Bhava contended that the "provisions breached the cardinal principle of federalism" as it amounted to legislation in the fields earmarked for state legislature. The new rules notified by the Union environment ministry banned the sale or purchase of bulls, cows, camels for slaughter houses or for sacrifice for religious purpose.

The petitioners said the provisions were notified on May 23 last when courts were on vacation. Such rules should be discussed in parliament and approved by it. Rules prohibiting sale and purchase of animals offended the right to freedom of religion guaranteed under Constitution, they submitted. "The slaughtering of animals for food, the foods and culinary made out of such animal flesh and offering sacrifice of animals are part of cultural identity of most communities in India, protected under constitution," the PILs said.

Meanwhile, Union minister Venkaiah Naidu today said that the Centre is examining "issues" raised by states and some organisations on the recent ban imposed by it on sale and purchase of cattle at animal markets for slaughter. "However, subsequently some issues were raised by some state governments and other organisations. These issues are being examined by the government," Naidu said. The environment ministry, which had notified the rules last week, received 13 representations on them. The ministry had notified the stringent Prevention of

Charges framed against Advani, others in Babri demolition case

Our leaders will come out unscathed, says Naidu

Lucknow, May 30 /-/ Senior BJP leaders L K Advani, M M Joshi and Uma Bharti were today charged with criminal conspiracy in the 1992 Babri mosque demolition case by a special CBI court here.

The court, which earlier rejected their discharge petition, framed charges against Advani (89), Joshi (83), Union minister Bharti (58) and three others under Section 120 (B) of the IPC (criminal conspiracy). The three others are the BJP's Vinay Katiyar (62), VHP's Vishnu Hari Dalmiya, who is in his late eighties, and one-time Hindutva firebrand Sadhvi Rithambara (53). The accused had argued against the framing of charges against them, asserting that they had no role in the razing of the mosque and had tried to stop it. Their discharge petitions were rejected by the judge. The court is hearing two separate cases relating to the demolition of the 16th-century mosque. Six others accused in the second case — Ramvilas Vedanti, Baikunth Lal Sharma, Champat Rai Bansal, Mahant Nritya Gopaldas, Dharam Das and Satish Prasad — were also charged with conspiracy as promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion, race, etc. and defiling a place of worship with the intent to insult a religion. Vedanti and the other five were, under various IPC sections, also charged with imputations prejudicial to national integration, committing deliberate and malicious acts intended to outrage religious feelings, making statements leading to public mischief, rioting and unlawful assembly.

Coming out in defence of the senior BJP leaders, Union minister M Venkaiah Naidu today said they are innocent and will come out unscathed. "Our leaders are innocent. They will come out unscathed," Naidu, a former BJP president, told reporters, adding that he would not comment beyond as the matter is in the court. He also noted that the NDA government did not move to withdraw the case against the top saffron leaders.

No need to follow Centre's order banning cattle sale, Mamata tells officials

BARRACKPORE, MAY 30 /-/ West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee today told officials in her administration that she has no need to follow the Centre's notification banning the sale of cattle for slaughter at animal markets till the state government issued a direction to that effect.

Mamata, however, asked the police to take steps to stop cow smuggling in the border district of North 24 Parganas "at any cost." Speaking at an administrative meeting, she said: "Cow smuggling has to be stopped at any cost. The police should take stern action to put an end to it." Cattle smuggling in North 24 Parganas district bordering Bangladesh is a sensitive issue with the BJP accusing the Trinamool Congress (TMC) government in the state of not doing enough to put an end to the illegal trade. The chief minister asked the police to "deal sternly with communal flare-ups", while accusing the BJP of "making efforts to incite communal violence" in the state.

"The police should keep its eyes and ears open. If someone tries to incite communal violence, beat up both the parties. Do not spare anybody in the name of the person's political affiliations. The BJP is trying to incite communal violence in the state," she said. Speaking on the ban on sale and purchase of cattle at animal markets for the purpose of slaughter, she asked the district administration to take steps to stop cow smuggling in the state. "The holy month of Ramadan is on. Everybody has the right to observe religious festivals. Just like Durga Puja, Kali Puja and Christmas, Eid is also observed in our state. Why should we have his or her choice. No one has the right to dictate it. Do not follow that (Centre's) order; the state has not issued any such order," she said.

Jadhav providing 'crucial intelligence' on recent terrorist attacks, claims Pak

ISLAMABAD, MAY 30 /-/ Pakistan has claimed that Indian national Kulbhushan Jadhav, who has been sentenced to death by a military court, was providing "crucial intelligence" about the recent terrorist attacks in the country.

Jadhav continues to provide crucial intelligence with regard to recent terrorist attacks in Pakistan, "foreign office spokesperson Nafees Zakaria told Dawn News in an interview. However, Zakaria did not elaborate on the details of the intelligence being provided by Jadhav. The Hague-based International Court of Justice stayed Jadhav's execution on May 18 but it has to decide the issue of jurisdiction in the case, Pakistani officials said. Meanwhile, Pakistan's Attorney General Ashtar Ahsan told Dawn News that Pakistan had enough evidence to prove that Jadhav was a "spy".

Ahsan said Pakistan has information on Jadhav that could not be disclosed due to security reasons. "The evidence would only be presented before the ICJ once it resumes the hearing," he said. Ahsan said the ICJ's procedural order of May 18 was neither Pakistan's defeat nor India's success and emphasised that when the case re-starts, "Pakistan would be on solid ground to win". Responding to a question regarding the constitution of a new legal team, Ahsan said that there were no plans to change the team. However, he said it would be "expanded". When asked why he did not represent Pakistan at the May 15 hearing at the ICJ, Ahsan claimed that he "knew prior to the judgement that the ICJ is going to announce the provisional order".

No agitation by Bengal CPM against cattle slaughter ban: Vote bank politics?

SARYASAGHI BANDOPADHYAY

KOLKATA, MAY 30 /-/ Vote bank politics and the widespread opprobrium that followed public consumption of beef by its leaders like Bikas Ranjan Bhattacharya in Kolkata seem to have stood in the way of the CPM hitting the streets with any agitation or demonstration against the ban on sale of cattle for slaughter by the Union government. It may be mentioned that in Left Front ruled states like Kerala and Tripura the CPM and its student wing Student Federation of India (SFI) and the youth wing Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI) have hit the streets with the SFI even organising Beef Festivals in Kerala. But in West Bengal, which earlier saw demonstrations by the left on issues like US aggression on foreign soil, except for some stray comments by Marxist leaders against the ban, there has been no agitation nor has there been any demonstration by the CPM or any of its wings on this issue.

"No political party can deny that there had been a surge in the support base for BJP in West Bengal, there has been a rise in their vote bank. Look at Mamata, how she has restrained herself. Also on an earlier occasion CPM leader Bikash Ranjan Bhattacharya took part in a beef feast in Kolkata and he faced flak not only from general public but inside the party too. Perhaps those were the reasons that prevented the CPM from taking to the streets," a party veteran told Echo of India. The Left party admitted that what they did in Kerala could not be done in West Bengal. "The situation in the two states are different. So what can be done there cannot be done here. But we will do something and we will announce that soon," Madhuja Sen Roy, state SFI president told Echo of India. Surya Kanta Mishra, party state secretary too said the situation at present did not warrant an agitation. "We will do it when situation demands. However, this issue will be announced tomorrow by Md Selim (party MP)," Mishra told Echo of India.
