Heavy rains lash Mumbai; hit local train services, dabbawalas suspend work

NDRF begins rescue operations in Vasai; Govt closely monitoring situation, says Fadnavis

MUMBAI, JULY 10 /- Suburban train services of the Western Railway were suspended today after heavy rains lashed the metropolis through the night, an official said. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) has predicted heavy to very heavy rain till Thursday. "Since last night, over 200 mm rainfall has been recorded. This has led to water logging on railway tracks and keeping in view passengers' safety, train services have been stopped till the water level on the tracks recede," the railway official said. Train services between Churchgate and Borivli were, however, normal. He said that pumps are being used to drain out water from tracks.

Local train services of the Central Railway (CR) were not affected despite the heavy rain. Trains are running normally on the main, harbour and trans-harbour lines, the CR said. It also tweeted to thank passengers for offering their gratitude.

"We received innumerable messages and tweets yesterday from our past bestowing accolades on us that despite heavy torrential rains for the past 72 hrs, we provided uninterrupted services. "We thank you all for the faith, confidence and immense support shown by each one of you," it tweeted with a video attachment.

Mumbai's dabbawalas have also suspended their services today. "We did not collect duffins today, because of the water logging across the city. Our people find it hard to wade through knee-deep water on their cycles," Mumbai Dabbawalas' Association's spokesman Subhash Talekar said.

Maharashtra chief minister Devendra Fadnavis today said a close watch on the situation in Mumbai and its neighbouring areas, especially in Palghar district, following heavy rains.

Palghar district has received unprecedented rainfall, he said in the Legislative Assembly here.

Yet another Kerala priest booked over rape charge

KAYAMKULAM, JULY 10 /- A case of alleged rape has been filed against yet another priest of a church in Kerala, where a string of clergymen are facing accusations of sexual misconduct, police said today. Binu George, a priest of Malankara Orthodox Syrian Church, was alleged to have raped the parishioner in Alappuzha district four years ago. He is currently serving at a church under the diocese at Koyalkkarama. The victim woman has claimed the priest sexually assaulted her at the office of the church when she approached him for help to settle some family dispute in 2014. In her complaint to the police, the woman said she had informed the church authorities about the incident soon thereafter, and was promised she would not face any harassment from him in the future. However, when the priest continued to torment her and spread "baseless gossip", she decided to take legal recourse, police said. In a major embarrassment for the clergy, a man from Pathanamthitta district had last month accused five priests of Malankara Orthodox Church in the state of using his wife's secret confession to blackmail and sexually exploit her. The alleged sexual abuse by the priests came to light after an audio clip of the victim's husband's purported conversation with a church official claiming rape of his wife by the clergymen was widely circulated on social media. The crime branch of the state police recently registered an FIR and slapped rape charges against four of the five priests after recording the woman's statement. Days later, the Catholic church in Kerala was hit by a scandal, with a senior nun accusing Bishop Franco Mulakkal, the head of the Latin diocese of Jalandhar of raping her, and filed a case with the Kuravilangad police.

Police said the girl went missing from her house last night at about 10.30 pm when there was a power-shutdown in the area. The family members lodged a missing report with the Dasuya police station late on Monday night.
