

FIFA U-17 World Cup: Confident France face struggling Spain in pre-quarters

GUWAHATI, OCT 16 /- On a roll after three wins on the trot in the group stage, former champions France face fellow European powerhouse Spain in a potentially high voltage round of 16 clash at the FIFA U-17 World Cup 2017, on Tuesday. France have entered into this tournament not as one of the four automatic qualifiers from Europe but after featuring in a tough six play-off match. But they have been having a brilliant run of form so far in India though they were placed in a comparatively easier group. The 2001 champions side beat tournament debutants New Caledonia 7-1, then prevailed over Japan 2-1 in a close game before thrashing Central American side Honduras 5-1. The 'Les Bleus' have scored the highest number of goals (14) in the group stages. Next will, however, face their toughest test of the tournament in the form of Spain, the European champions, on Tuesday. Just five months back Spain had beaten France 3-1 in the UEFA European U-17 Championship quarter-finals. Star striker Amine Gouiri had given France the lead in that match before Mateu Morey, Abel Ruiz and Sergio Gomez had replied for Spain to register a resounding victory. Gouiri has been in excellent form in the group stage in India and he is the current leading scorer with five strikes to his name. Mateu Morey, Abel Ruiz and Sergio Gomez are all in the Spanish side here and it should be an interesting tussle of supremacy between the two European sides at the Indira Gandhi Athletic Stadium. Spain have come into this tournament as one of the favourites and are seeking their maiden FIFA U-17 World Cup title but they have struggled to live up to the expectations so far. The 'La Rojita' lost to another tournament favourite Brazil 2-1 in their campaign opener and then beat Niger (4-0) and North Korea (2-0) to qualify for the round of 16 as runners-up from Group D. Their final match against North Korea showed their attacking frailties as they needed a late goal to put the match away after taking an early lead. The Spaniards dominated possession and repeatedly threatened the North Korean goal but had to be content with just two goals and the side's finishing must be a worry for coach Santiago Denia. It could be a matter of time the Spaniards rediscover their brand of football that is synonymous with the Iberian nation - possession football. With six players from FC Barcelona's famous academy La Masia and five from Real Madrid academy, this team can do at least France tomorrow to advance further in the tournament. For that to happen, wonderkids like Barcelona's youth team player and captain Abel Ruiz and Valencia starlet Ferran Torres will have to make an impact tomorrow. Ruiz of La Masia academy has been courted by top Premier League clubs like Manchester City, Arsenal and Chelsea while Torres is another bright prospect of Spanish football with two La Liga goals. Barcelona and Real Madrid having shown interest in the young striker. Here in India, he has scored five from three matches to be the tournament's leading scorer so far. The Lyon player has been in his brilliant form scoring France's two goals in the 2-1 win over Japan and then finding the target against Honduras after coming as a substitute.

Iraq face acid test against Mali in U-17 WC pre-quarters

MARGAO, Oct 16 /- Last edition's runner-up Mali will enjoy an upper hand before a gutsy Iraq in a tricky pre-quarter final match of the FIFA U-17 World Cup, here on Tuesday. Two-time champions Mali have had a good performance so far though they finished runners-up in Group B. They lost to eventual group toppers Paraguay in a narrow 2-3 result but came back strongly to win convincingly against Turkey (3-0) and New Zealand (3-1) to finish with six points. The African side's speedy run down the flanks and stronger physique will pose a lot of threat for the Iraqi defence and it will be interesting to see how the Lions of Mesopotamia, who will be playing without their star player and captain Mohammed Dawoud tomorrow, counter the Mali attackers. For Mali strikers Lassana Ndiaye and Djemoussa Traore have combined well upfront and have posed threats to their opponents defence with their speedy runs but have been found wanting in front of the goal as they have wasted a lot of scoring chances. Attacking midfielder Salim Jidhou will keep the Mali offensive moves going along with Hadji Drame who look dangerous on either flank. The biggest concern for Mali is their defence which was exposed by Paraguay and it is to be seen how the Iraqis take advantage in the absence of their star striker Mohammed Dawoud. Iraq finished runners-up in Group F behind England. They drew their first match against Mexico 1-1, then came up with a top class performance to beat Chile 3-0 before losing to England 0-4 to finish on four points. It was a disappointing match for the Asian champions against England as they were not only drubbed 9-0 but also lost captain Mohammed Dawoud for tomorrow's match after he received a yellow card in the 62nd minute, his second in the tournament. Dawoud has been the inspiration in the attack and was the leading scorer for his side with three goals in the seven matches. Iraq will surely be felt tomorrow. Iraq have returned to the place where they played last year to win the Asian U-16 Championships. They have been good only on patches and their coach Qasim Chaht would be hoping that his boys give their best tomorrow. They have a reason to give an inspiring performance tomorrow as this has been their first ever knock-out stage qualification in this tournament. Iran have featured in the FIFA U-17 World Cup only once earlier, at UAE 2013. That experience was not particularly memorable as they finished last in their group losing all their three matches.

India unlikely to play any 'four-day' Tests in near future

NEW DELHI, OCT 16 /- The ICC has decided to start with four day Test matches on a trial basis but the Indian cricket team is unlikely to play the curtailed version of the longest format in near future. The decision to introduce four-day Test was taken during recent ICC board meeting in Auckland and South Africa and Zimbabwe set to play the inaugural four day 'Test' on the 'Boxing Day'. However BCCI wants to stick to traditional format as has been recommended by the Anil Kumble led ICC Cricket Committee, which was against this experimental move. "India will not play any four day Test matches, atleast in the near future. Any Test match involving India will be a five-day affair," a senior BCCI official privy to development said. The PTI on conditions of anonymity. "The BCCI believes that there is a lot of merit in Anil Kumble-led Cricket Committee's recommendations that duration should not be tinkered with. But since four-day Test matches are bi-partite agreements, if two nations are okay, they will go ahead with it," the official said. The other reason for BCCI not warming up to four day Test is because there are no points awarded for the proposed Test league. "Only five-day Tests will have points that will be counted for the World Test Championship. What's the point in playing matches that won't count for anything. In any case, if we play Ireland or Afghanistan also, it will be five-day affairs," the official said. Asked if in the future, the broadcasters start pressuring for curtailed Test matches, the official said: "We will cross that bridge when it comes." It is learnt that ICC's main aim towards promoting four-day Test is to ensure that Ireland and Afghanistan are eased into the system along with Zimbabwe being able to remain competitive. "Let's be practical. For Ireland or Afghanistan, it will be very difficult that they can be competitive in a five-day format straightaway. If Test matches against these countries and inside three days or little over, it is only logical that four-day Tests are tried out," an official of a member board said. (PTI)

France join top seeds for World Cup draw

ZURICH, OCT 16 /- France will be among the top seeds for next month's World Cup draw after they climbed to seventh in the FIFA rankings published on Monday. The draw for next year's finals will be held in Moscow on December 1 when the 32 eventual finalists will be divided into four pots according to their position in the rankings announced on Monday. The seven teams taken to the final round will go into pot one, the next eight ranked teams in pot two and so on. Each of the eight four-team first-round groups will consist of one team drawn from each pot. The top seven teams in the rankings are Germany, Brazil, Portugal, Argentina, Belgium, Poland and France - all among the 23 teams who have so far guaranteed their places in Russia. Spain will be in pot two, where they will be joined by England, Colombia, Mexico and Uruguay. Peru, Australia and Italy will all face playoffs in November, will also go into pot two if they qualify. Peru, who face New Zealand in November as they attempt to end a 36-year absence from the World Cup, climbed into the top 10 for the first time. The rankings also confirmed that Switzerland, Italy, Croatia and Denmark will be the seeded teams for the European playoffs, which will be drawn on Tuesday and played over two legs in November. Northern Ireland, Ireland, Greece and Sweden are the other teams involved.

Indonesian goalkeeper Huda dies after mid-game collision

JAKARTA, OCT 16 /- Indonesian football was in mourning on Monday after celebrated goalkeeper Choirul Huda died following an on-pitch collision with a teammate. Huda, 29, a long time regular for his hometown club Persija in East Java, collapsed just before half-time after Sunday's accidental clash with Brazilian midfielder Ramon Rodrigues. Video footage showed the former of two clutching his chest in pain before he was rushed away on a stretcher and taken to hospital. Doctors said he stopped breathing and suffered a heart attack. "He received an emergency treatment for a few minutes in the hospital but he could not be saved. He died before 5:00 pm yesterday," Persija's assistant coach Yahronur Ekiandi told AFP. Doctors said the medical team tried to revive the veteran Huda, a former fringe player in the national set-up, for about an hour. "Choirul Huda suffered from traumatic collision with a team mate which caused him to stop breathing and have cardiac arrest," Yudistiro Andri Nugroho, a doctor from Lamongan hospital, said in a statement. Nugroho said Huda suffered possible neck and head trauma from the impact to his chest and lower jaw after he dived at the feet of on-rushing players and was caught by the legs of Rodrigues. Persija paid tribute to Huda, who played for the team more than 500 times since 1999, calling him "The Real Legend" of the club in a posting on Twitter. "Thousands of fans also took to social media in memory of Huda, who had been known to Persija supporters as 'One Man, One Club, One Love'."

Bowl reasonably quick: Santner's plan in India

MUMBAI, OCT 16 /- New Zealand spinner Mitchell Santner on Monday said the key to success against India's much-vaunted batting line-up would be to bowl reasonably quick and induce mistakes from Virat Kohli and Co. India and New Zealand will lock horns in a limited-overs series, comprising three ODIs and an equal number of T20 Internationals, starting October 22. "It is tough to bowl against India, they are very good players of spin. They have grown up playing spin, just try to keep it pretty simple. Santner said ahead of his team's practice game against Board President's XI on Tuesday. "Bowl the ball reasonably quick and induce mistakes from Virat Kohli and Co.
